M1 Garrand Rifles

Hello MCSA Members!

The board and membership has agreed to sell the M1 Garrand rifles that the club has had for some time. We know that the values of these rifles are in the neighborhood of $1800 to $2500, depending on which specific rifle we are looking at, and we are looking for a minimum offer of 80% of the value. First though, we need to know if there is interest among members, because we'd like to offer the rifles to members first.

Over the years, I've had MCSA members approach me indicating that they'd be interested in purchasing one of the M1s, if the club ever decided to sell them. If you are or were one of those individuals, now is the time to decide if you are still interested! We have a deadline of January 15, at which time all offers that have come in will be considered. Please do keep in mind that this money will be used to apply toward range improvement projects.

Whatever rifles are left after members have contacted us about purchasing one will be listed on Gun Broker or another similar website.

If you have questions, comments or any other ideas, Please let one of the board members know or come to the January 5, 2022 club meeting.

Thank you!

Just some interesting stuff...

By Keith Martin, VP MCSA.

Some of you know that we recycle brass. If we punch the primers out we can get more value for the brass and we can even get value for the primers as long as we keep them separate.

Now, I admit that punching primers is a rather tedious, mind numbing operation. But I am someone that has reloaded for years and I have the equipment and some would say that I need a tedious, mind numbing task to keep me out of trouble. Maybe that is true.

I have found a few interesting things as I punch primers ...other than it really hurts if you get your finger in the way. I have come across several, what I would call plastic brass 38 special cases, some 5.7 x 28 mm cases and some brass plated steel cases.

The 5.7 x 28 is a bottleneck, rimless cartridge packed with bullets ranging in size from 23 grains to 40 grains. The muzzle velocity is typically somewhere between 2350 and 2,400 fps and 2800 fps with lighter rounds. Hopefully, whoever is dropping these into the brass recycle bin is not shooting these rounds in the range, since they would be above our limit of 1500 fps.

The other one that, as a re-loader and recycler, I would be careful with, is the brass plated steel cases. They are 9mm and the only way to tell them apart is using a magnet, which we do to keep the steel cases separated from the brass. The larger concern is that if someone gets ahold of these and attempts to reload them they might damage the dies used for reloading. Please be careful.

The plastic 38 special cases, I have never seen before. I believe that they are used for training.
